

Cell Overcharge Test

Cell voltage and self temperature rises during charge process. After about 150 minutes (90,000 seconds) overcharge, cell voltage reaches 12V and the self temperature rises to maximum 70°C. After that, the self temperature goes down, so there's no risk of explosion.

Human Safe & Eco Friendly